

Social and Personal

SOCIETY in Richmond is much interested in the marriage of Miss Ella Jackson, daughter of the late John F. Jackson, of this city, and Donald Skipwith Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Harrison, of Danville, which will be celebrated this evening at 6 o'clock in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Merritt Allen Chambers, 814 Park Avenue. Dr. Edmund Harrison, uncle of the groom, will perform the ceremony, and only the relatives and most intimate friends of the bride and groom will be present. The entire lower floor will be decorated in a color scheme of pink and green. The walls will be curtained in smilax and pink flowers and pale pink roses will be banked on the mantels. An altar of palms and lighted tapers will be arranged at one end of the long parlor, and palms and ferns will screen the orchestra.

The bride's wedding gown is soft white satin, made with a court train, and the bodice is trimmed in real lace and pearl embroidery. Her veil of illusion will fall from a Juliet cap of white lace, and she will carry a shower bouquet of white and pink roses, white orchids, G. Carlton Jackson will give his sister away. Miss Myra Chambers, niece of the bride, will be maid of honor, and will wear a lovely gown of pale pink chiffon made over pink satin and trimmed in pearls. She will carry a bouquet of La France roses. Charles Faulkner, of Boynton, will act as his cousin's best man.

Mr. Harrison and his bride will leave at once for a wedding trip North, and will reside in Danville on their return. Guests from a distance here to attend the ceremony include Miss Virginia (Gibson) of Wytheville; Miss Lindsay Wilson, of New Orleans; Miss Lawson W. Cole, of Washington; Miss Landon Harrison, of Danville; Dr. John Stalge Davis and Miss Carrie Davis, of the University of Virginia; Robert Harrison and Miss Sarah Harrison, of Fayette; Dr. Edmund Harrison, and others.

audience was most enthusiastic in its reception of her. She is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music in Toronto, Canada, and is here singing a number of private recitals. Her voice is unusually full and sweet, and the program selected was most pleasing. The first of the afternoon was Mrs. John Lamb, Miss Rena Gieske, Mrs. B. O. James and Miss Jean Field. The tea tables were set with bouquets of lovely fall roses, and the club was decorated in dahlias.

Carrington-Tucker.
A quiet but pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of the bride's father, MacMahon Flanagan, on Barton Heights, when Mrs. Shepherd Tucker, of Cumberland county, became the bride of Collier Carrington, also of Cumberland county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. M. Padgett, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city. Miss Alice White, of this city, a niece of the bride, was maid of honor, and Luther Walton acted as his cousin's best man. The bride was handsomely gowned in white messaline, with a picture hat and gloves to match.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Carrington left for Wilson, N. C., and other places of interest. They will be at home after October 22 near Staunton.

In Atlantic City.
Mrs. Thomas Burton Sheard has gone to Atlantic City, where she will spend some time. Mrs. Sheard is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Minor Lile, of the University of Virginia. Miss Lile, who has recently graduated from the Cathedral School in Washington, after two years' preliminary study in Switzerland, makes her home to society in the midst of the cultured and charming circle of the historic university of the state.

In November Miss Lile will visit her aunt, Mrs. Preston Carson, at "Dundee," who will entertain the season's debutantes at bridge whist in her home.

Miss Jones a Debutante.
Miss Charlotte Jones is another of the members of Richmond's younger society set to make her bow here this winter. Miss Jones, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jones, and a niece of Mrs. H. M. Cannon, is a charming and attractive girl and some very handsome entertaining will be done in her home.

Miss Curt is Here.
Miss Margaret C. Curtis, of 25 Mount Vernon Street, Boston, is spending several days in Richmond as the guest of Mrs. William W. Archer, 508 East Franklin Street. Miss Curtis entertained several Richmond people at the National Charity Conference in Boston last summer, and several affairs will be given in her honor during her short stay in the city. Miss Nannie Minor was hostess at tea at the Nurses' Settlement here yesterday afternoon.

Miss Curtis and she was also guest of honor at luncheon yesterday. She will later join a party of friends who have been motoring in the Valley of Virginia and return to Boston in their machine. Wedding-Giescke.
The marriage of Miss Grace Giescke, of Evansville, Ind., and Walter Crews Woodling, of Danville, took place on Wednesday, October 11, at 2 P. M., in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Giescke, in Evansville.

The parlor was transformed into a garden of green by the use of palms and other foliage plants with pink and white carnations to blend in with the pink and white color scheme. Trailing garlands of smilax added toward beautifying the apartments and with lights shaded in pink made a lovely wedding bower. Promptly at the appointed hour, Miss Louise Fisher, presiding at the piano, played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the maid of honor, the bride's only sister, Miss Elsie Giescke entered. The bride followed on the arm of her father, meeting the groom with his best man, his brother, Rev. Woodling, of Lynchburg, at the altar where Rev. Hamilton A. Hynes performed the ceremony.

The bride, who is a very striking handsome brunette, wore an elegant gown of white duchess trimmed in duchess lace. Her veil of tulle was caught with a bandeau of pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses. Miss Elsie Giescke was attired in pink silk and carried a shower of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodling left on the midnight train for a southern bridal trip, going later to Danville, where they will reside. The bride's traveling suit was a black and gray mixture with touches of purple and worn with a purple hat trimmed with black plumes.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Giescke, and from childhood has been noted for her unusual talent on the violin.

Mr. Woodling is a wealthy tobaccoist and a member of a prominent family in the State.

Delegates Leave Wednesday.
The executive board of the Equal Suffrage League of Virginia and the delegates to the suffrage convention in Louisville, Ky., met yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Charles Bosher, 109 North Sixth Street.

Questions of interest relating to matters that will be decided at the convention were discussed, and a vote of thanks proposed by the president of the league, Mrs. Valentine, was given Mrs. Carl J. Rostrup and all who assisted her in rendering the suffrage luncheon booth at the State Fair a great success.

The delegates will leave for Louisville on Wednesday morning, October

18, and will have headquarters at Hotel Seelbach during the sessions of the national convention.

Miller-McClung.
Miss Mary Yarbrough McClung, of Abbeville, S. C., and Perovial Walker Miller, of Cranford, N. J., were married in Richmond yesterday. The ceremony being performed by the Rev. J. Calvin Stewart, D. D., pastor of the Church of the Covenant. Members of the bride's family came from South Carolina to attend the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Miller leave to-day for Old Point, and will go to-day to Cranford.

Collins-Earnest.
A marriage that was a decided surprise to friends and the culmination of a three-year romance, took place at the Sacred Heart Cathedral Sunday afternoon at 6:15, when Father O'Reilly joined in matrimony Miss Mollie Earnest and W. A. Collins, both of this city.

Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on an Old Dominion Line steamer for Norfolk, from which point they will leave for a tour of the large Eastern cities. Miss Ella Earnest was maid of honor and J. G. Hood best man.

Engagements of Interest.
Miss Lillian Hunton, of Washington, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eppa Hunton, Jr., on East Franklin Street. Mr. and Mrs. Decatur Axtell sail this morning on the steamship Kron Princessin Cecilie, of the North German Lloyd line, from New York for Bremen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Chappell announce the approaching marriage of their niece, Miss Johnnie Perkins, to Arthur Mahone Harrison. The wedding will be celebrated very quietly on October 25 at the home of the bride, 729 West Grace Street.

Marriage Announced.
Charles Llewellyn Johnson, of Waco, Tex., announces the marriage of his daughter, Mrs. Llewellyn Johnson Eubank, to Charles Melndee Langhorne, of Richmond. The ceremony took place on September 18, and Mrs. Langhorne will be at home at Richmond after November 1 at 1612 West Grace Street.

Important Meetings.
A meeting of the chairmen of the United Daughters of the Confederacy convention will be held this morning at 11 o'clock. If the chairmen of the various committees cannot attend they are asked to send a representative in the person of a member of their committee. This is the last meeting for revision of the program for the convention, and all are urged to be present.

The quarterly meeting of the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Association will take place tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in the basement of the synagogue. All members are asked to attend.

To Be Made Deacons.

Widomara, Cal.—Says Mrs. F. S. Mills, of this place: "I had a mishap, which was followed by inflammation, and I suffered with intense pain for more than a week. I positively believe I would have died had it not been for Cardui, the woman's tonic."

I don't think any one can recommend a medicine more highly than I can Cardui. I never saw a remedy which strengthens one so rapidly. When I began to take Cardui I could not stand on my feet. After taking two bottles I was cured, and now I weigh 165 pounds. I am glad to recommend a medicine with so much merit."

If womanly troubles have worn you out, made you feel weak, sick and miserable, and able to see only the dark side of things, brighten up by getting back your health.

Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. This well-known woman's medicine has brought health and happiness to many thousands of weak and ailing women. Why not to you?

Get a bottle to-day at the drug store. NOTE.—The Cardui Home Treatment for Women consists of Cardui ($1), Thornd's Black-Draught (25c), or Vello (50c), for the liver, and Cardui Antiseptic (50c). These remedies may be taken singly, by themselves, if desired, or three together, as a complete treatment for women's ills. ROAD BOND ISSUES WILL BE TESTED

Supreme Court to Decide on Validity of County Bonds for Highways.

For the purpose of testing the validity of the law providing for county bond issues payable out of magisterial districts, for the purpose of building good roads, a test case was appealed yesterday to the Supreme Court. The point at issue is the recent bond issue in Tazewell county.

George W. St. Clair, of Tazewell county, appeared at the clerk's office yesterday morning with his petition, and the writ of habeas corpus was issued. Little doubt is felt that the law will be upheld. In fact, an almost similar case has been practically decided by the court from Lee county, where a writ of certiorari was refused. However, at that time the court did not hand down a written opinion, and such action is desired as to prevent further contests, and to make it clear to all purchasers that the law is entirely valid.

Counties Issue Bonds.
By the terms of the statute, magisterial districts may call elections to vote on bond issues, a majority being required not only of the voters of the district, but of the entire county, as well. The county then issues the bonds, and the are to be repaid by means of a sinking fund accumulated from the road levies of the districts affected. There is no provision in the Constitution, for the issuance of the bonds for such a purpose, and the point of unconstitutionality has been raised as a consequence.

In the case at bar, G. J. Moss became a bidder for three $1,000 bonds, one from each of the magisterial districts of Tazewell county. An election was held on April 18 of the voters of the county, and a total bond issue of $25,000, which was up to the limit of 10 per cent. of the taxable value of each district. The vote of the voters of the county was against. When the county was ready to deliver its bonds, Mr. Moss refused to do so, on the ground that they did not comply with the constitution. His contention is that the issue is of district bonds instead of county, and this contravenes the Constitution.

Shaw Was President.
Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, was made president of the institution immediately after he left the Cabinet. It was during his regime that the company became connected with P. J. Kieran, of Fidelity Funding Company fame. Kieran made dupes of almost every Catholic Church and religious order of that church in the United States, and when the explosion came, the trust company had to carry more than $500,000 of its securities.

Dickinson, who owned the stock control in the institution, then broke with Shaw. The latter sold his holdings and retired from the presidency, which was resumed by Kieran. Kieran made about seeking the business of country banks and sold much of the stock to small bankers all over the United States, but principally in the South and West. Cummins, who has since been so much in the public eye, then a commission merchant in Nashville, Tenn., and interested in the Southern National Bank of that city, was one of the men to whom Dickinson sold some stock. Dickinson having learned that Cummins was associated with the Chisholms and other men of money, flattered him by making him director of the Carnegie Trust Company. Cummins soon after this came back to New York.

About this time, the Van Norden, who owned control in the Van Norden Trust Company and the Nineteenth Ward and Twelfth Ward Banks, desired to retire from the banking field, and offered their stock to a syndicate of the Empire Trust Company directors. While the latter were deliberating over the price, Dickinson and Cummins had of the stock to a syndicate and snapped up the stock, as they said, right under the noses of the Empire Trust people.

When they announced their plan to merge the four institutions, but the State Banking Department, then under the superintendence of Clark Williams, suspected them of the proposed deal, and the law would not permit the merging of banks and trust companies. The real reason, however, it was said, was something entirely different. Cummins in trying to learn the secret, discovered, it was said, that the Carnegie trouble was caused by the personal management.

Cummins promised to bring about a change diplomatically, and soon thereafter Mr. Dickinson, who had been severely injured by a fall from his horse in Central Park, retired.

Reichmann Elevated.
Joseph B. Reichmann, young head of the National Star Company, generally regarded as a Standard Oil affair, was selected by Cummins as the chief president of the Carnegie Trust Company. Although in defeat, health, he accepted the post.

The first trouble the company experienced in connection with a loan the company had made through a broker to a man who turned out to be an ex-convict. The broker and his principal quarreled, with the result that the latter rushed to the district attorney's office and said that he had been defrauded out of $500,000 in bonds. This was distorted into the report that $500,000 worth of bonds had been stolen from the vaults of the Carnegie Trust Company.

The name of the institution was linked with the crash in the Columbus Hocking Coal and Iron Company stock pool, which had been under the management of James R. Keene, and a rumour on the institution was

FINANCIAL SWATCHING CASE

William J. Cummins, Master
Mind of Carnegie Trust Company, on Trial To-Day.

SPECTACULAR CAREER

Political Upheaval in State May Result From Expected Revelations.

(Special To The Times-Dispatch.)
New York, October 16.—One of the most spectacular careers in American financial annals, comes to its crisis tomorrow, when William J. Cummins, "master mind" of the Carnegie Trust Company, now defunct, goes on trial to-morrow before the Criminal Division of the New York State Supreme Court, charged with grand larceny of $140,000, misappropriated, it is alleged, from the funds of the institution.

The trial is on one of eleven counts found against him in the indictment of the grand jury on March 21, the total alleged defalcations amounting to $350,000.

The entire banking world is watching for the developments of the trial, which may be vital and far-reaching in its results. Not since the trial of Charles W. Morse have financial circles been so unwrapped in excitement.

Robinson Star Witness.
The star witness for the prosecution is Joseph G. Roblin, former head of the defuncted Washington Savings Bank and Northern Bank, who was convicted for his "skyrocket" schemes, and is awaiting sentence. Following the verdict of "guilty" last spring, Roblin decided to turn State's evidence, and testify in the trial of Cummins and of former City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde, who is under indictment for alleged criminal action in depositing New York City funds with the Carnegie Trust, when he was alleged to know of its unsound condition.

Roblin's banks had extensive dealings with the other company, and he has said that his testimony will disclose conditions unparalleled in records of "high finance."

Joseph B. Reichmann, president of the Carnegie Trust Company until shortly before it was closed on January 15 of this year, who is now under a month's sentence for violation of the banking laws in connection with the case, also is expected to testify.

Cummins will be represented in court to-morrow by some of the foremost legal talent of the State, led by Max Baughman, a brilliant and experienced criminal lawyer. Arrayed against them will be District Attorney Whitman and a corps of special assistants, who have been working for months, hunting down evidence and preparing it for presentation.

The institution penetrated in case conviction results is ten years in the penitentiary.

The Carnegie Trust Company, in which Cummins made his fortune, operations, produced sensations from the day it was founded by the late Charles Dickinson, former State bank examiner. It attracted public attention first through its dispute with Andrew Carnegie over the use of his name, Mr. Carnegie at first objected to having the institution named after him, and even went so far as to consult lawyers and authorities in Washington.

FIRE BOARD ASKS RIGHT TO APPEAR

Committee Named to Attend Inquiry Into Recent Fire at City Hall.

Anticipating that the proposed investigation of the recent City Hall fire if pressed to its ultimate conclusion, must result in a battle between the department controlled by City Electrician Thompson and that directed by Consulting Engineer E. W. Trafford, and being vitally interested in all violations of the safety rules for electric wiring, the Board of Fire Commissioners has requested that a committee from the board be allowed to be present at the proposed communication.

The following communication was therefore sent to Chairman Huber yesterday, signed by Secretary Jones: "At a meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners, held on the 5th instant, Messrs. Robert Lecky, Jr., Charles Kessler and John Mann, Jr., were appointed a committee from our board and requested to be present at all the meetings of your committee of investigation, simply for the information of our board, as matters may come before your committee of interest to this department. Therefore, if agreeable to you, we will thank you if you will kindly advise this office of all such meetings, so as this committee from our board may be properly notified."

Members of the Fire Board explain that they have no desire to take a part in the investigation or to hamper the committee in any way, but merely wish to secure the information for the benefit of the department, which this sub-committee will bring out.

It is generally accepted that the fire was caused by crossing of wires of the municipal electric plant, strung and operated under the supervision of Engineer Trafford, with wires connecting the private telephone system of the public schools, erected and supervised by City Electrician Thompson. The committee was appointed nearly a month ago, and has held no meeting.

COMMUTATION GRANTED TO HALL BY GOVERNOR
(Special To The Times-Dispatch.)
Raleigh, N. C., October 16.—To-day a commutation was granted by Governor Kitchen for George Hall, sentenced August, 1906, to fifteen years for conspiracy to kill in Rowan county. So he will be free December 29 next. Hall was the only man convicted in a member of the mob that stormed Rowan county jail at Salisbury, and lynched the negro who murdered the Lyster family five years ago. Petitions urging commutation included the signatures of 145 of the members of the North Carolina Legislature and the prison officers, and numerous citizens of Rowan county.

Barber-Apperson.
(Special To The Times-Dispatch.)
Lynchburg, Va., October 16.—At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Apperson, 1924 Rivermont Avenue, Miss Margaret Apperson, at 5 o'clock last night, became the bride of W. C. Barker, Jr., a young business man of the city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph B. Dunn, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church. Following the ceremony, supper was served the wedding party, and the bride and groom left at 1 o'clock this morning for a Northern and Western tour.

Wednesday will go to Chicago, where of honor at the marriage of Miss Hazel Meyer, a former student of the Woman's College. They will spend next Sunday at the home of the groom's parents in Buchanan, and returning here Monday, remain in the city until October 26, when they will accompany Mr. Apperson and his family to California to spend the winter.

Mrs. Garnett Lee was the matron of honor. Dr. W. C. Barker, of Buchanan, father of the groom, was best man. Mrs. Apperson, the bride's mother, wore white.

Little Miss Demetria Barker, sister of the groom, was ring-bearer. Mary Newell Payne, Emma Ivey, Belle and Sarah Winfree, Elizabeth L. Payne and Charlotte Russell Adams.

Mrs. N. A. Pattilla presided at the organ, and rendered delightful selections of appropriate music.
